

WICKED ARE TO DIE AND THE DEVIL BE CHAINED TO EARTH

"During the millenium, the righteous will live and reign with Christ in heaven, the wicked will all be in death and the devil will be bound with a chain of circumstance to this world in its desolate condition," was the declaration of Pastor E. W. Farnsworth last night at the Seventh Day Adventist camp meeting, Washington avenue and Twenty-sixth street.

Continuing he said in part: "The word 'millenium' is coined from two Latin words, 'mille' meaning a thousand, and 'annus' a year. A thousand years. This period of time is found eight times in the Bible. Six of these instances are found in the twentieth chapter of the book of Revelation.

"This thousand year period, in Revelation 20, is bounded by two great events—the first and the second resurrections. The Bible teaches two resurrections, the resurrection of the just and the unjust, of life and of damnation.

"The first resurrection ushers in the second coming of Christ. He comes to receive the saints to reign with him. Paul says of that blessed time, 'And the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first; then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord. Wherefore comfort one another with these words.' I. Thess. 4:16-18.

"Christ's promise was that he would return and receive his people unto himself (John 14:1-3), and Paul saw them on the way to heaven. John takes the matter up and in vision sees them in heaven. Rev. 19:1-10. He then tells us, 'This is the first resurrection. Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection; on such the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years.' Rev. 20:4-6.

"So the righteous live and reign with Christ a thousand years in heaven. Is there difference between the saints living with Christ, and Christ living with the saints? Certainly there is. Would it make any difference to you whether you would come and live with me or that I should come and live with you? You say it would, and you are right. Christ says he will receive his people when he comes and they will have the privilege of going to heaven and living with him.

"When Christ comes at the beginning of the thousand years, the living wicked are destroyed. First, they cry for the rocks and the mountains to fall upon them (Rev. 6:14-17) rather than to look into the face of Christ, and then the glory of the Lord destroys them. We read, 'Then shall the wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming.' I. Thess. 2:8. The bodies of the wicked lay upon the face of the earth, with no one to gather or bury nor lament them. They lay as filth upon the earth. Jer. 23:27-34.

"Satan is bound to the earth by a chain of circumstances. That the righteous are in heaven, is a circumstance which prevents the adversary from tempting them again. The fact that his own subjects, the wicked, are all in death, is a circumstance that remove them where he cannot worry them further. Satan is utterly bound, confined to the earth in his desolate condition. Right here, where he has caused so much trouble, deceiving the human family, causing sorrow, crying and death, and crucifying the Master, is where the plan of God has it that he will receive part of his punishment, during the thousand years, and eventually he will be burned, and suffer the death in the lake of fire.

"Some scriptures which show the condition of the world during the thousand years are: 'I beheld the earth, and lo, it was without form and void; and the heavens and they had no light. I beheld, and lo, there was no man, and the birds of the heavens were fled. I beheld, and lo, the fruitful place was a wilderness, and all the cities thereof were broken down. For thus saith the Lord, the whole land shall be desolate. For this shall the earth mourn, and the heavens above be black, because I have spoken it.' The earth will be emptied. Isa. 24:1-3.

"Satan has always made the boast that he could rule a kingdom better than God. Once in the end of time the Lord sees that he has a chance to demonstrate his power. God reduces the world to the same condition that it was when he took it in the beginning. There is no man, the birds and beasts are perished, and the sun does not shine upon the earth. When God began his work in the beginning, he simply commanded, and the birds were created, the sun gave light and man was made. Now during the thousand years, Satan may call for the birds, command the sun to shine, and seek to bring back his subjects, but to no avail. He is utterly bound. The universe of God beholds his defeat.

"At the end of the thousand years the righteous come back to the earth. Zach. 14:4-5. The wicked dead are raised. Rev. 20:5. Now Satan is loosed. His subjects are before him. The city of God, the New Jerusalem, comes down to the earth. Rev. 21:2. The devil now can take the city of God to believe they can take the city of God from the saints. They go up and surround the city and fire comes down from heaven, and they are devoured, and perish. The kingdom of God utterly blots out the kingdom of Satan. Rev. 20:7-10.

"The earth will then be made new. Rev. 21:1. And though the righteous will have the privilege of following the lamb (Christ) whithersoever he goeth, throughout the vast universe of God, yet the earth made new will be the home of the righteous. God's original plan concerning the earth will be carried out. Affliction shall be no more. There shall be no more curse. The universe shall remain clean, as far as sin and death, forever. May God say of his second return.

OGDEN CLUB WOMEN FAVORS EARLY CLOSING

"I think you are right about this early closing question," said a prominent Ogden club woman at The Fountain at Wright's store the other day, "and I know that a great, great many women are of the same frame of mind. While the ladies' clubs were instrumental in securing the nine-hour law, we still realize that greater benefit will come to all when all of the institutions close early."

Last Saturday's business proved conclusively that the public generally is in favor of the early closing hour. The business at this store increased and the expenses were reduced, and a hundred customers took occasion to speak favorably of the idea. This store will close tomorrow night at seven and every Saturday night during the month of August.

and may we be ready to meet him in peace."

Pastor Farnsworth will speak tonight on "God's Seal; What Is It?" The public is invited.

MANY INJURED ARE IN HOSPITALS

Queenstown, Aug. 19.—A large number of the Arabic's survivors who arrived here at 6 o'clock tonight were badly injured. Thirty of the injured have been sent to hospitals. The ship was struck so suddenly that many only had time to adjust their life preservers and leap into the sea when the giant liner went down.

The whole of the ship's starboard stern was torn out by the explosion. One of the survivors stated:

"We were on deck engaged in watching another ship and speculating on the chances of its being torpedoed when our own vessel was struck. There was no warning of any kind. There was a general rush for life preservers and the passengers were just barely able to get these adjusted when the explosion occurred. Ten life boats and life rafts were put over the side and many passengers fell into the water where they were able to reach the rafts and clung to them for their lives. Most of the survivors were afloat for hours in the ship's boats, during which the injured suffered severely before they were picked up."

ARABIC SINKING CAUSE OF SAD SCENES IN LONDON

Liverpool, Aug. 19.—The sinking of the Arabic caused a repetition in London of the sad scenes witnessed when the Lusitania was lost. Outside the White Star building, in Thames street, a big crowd gathered soon after the news became known. Throughout the evening the crowd grew as wives and relatives hurried to inquire the fate of the men aboard the sunken ship. It was more than four hours after the news of the calamity was published before any authentic information could be given as to the number of lives lost.

One young woman who moved about the crowd related how she had providentially escaped being on the liner. She was a stewardess and had signed for the voyage, but at the last moment was granted a leave of absence to see her brother, who was returning from the front.

The officers of the White Star line—Colonel Concanon, Sir Lionel Fletcher and A. B. Cauty—remained at the offices all night.

RUSS CAPITAL MAY BE MOVED

London, Aug. 20.—Possibility of the removal of the Russian seat of government to Moscow is discussed by the Post's Petrograd correspondent, who says:

"The Russians are calmly considering the enormous advantages to the permanent well being of the empire if forthcoming events should compel the removal of the capital inland. Moscow, the premier capital, is still the nerve center of the empire, upon which all railways converge—from Archangel to Vladivostok, to Astrakhan, and the Crimea.

"Petrograd was an admirable capital for the genius of Peter the Great, but many think it was served its purpose in the history of Russia. Its foundation was a stroke of genius, forcing the Russian people to abandon the semi-oriental world for the western world, but that object long since has been attained."

The Post correspondent, in another dispatch, discussed the feeling in Russia that the Russians must continue as heretofore to bear the principal burden of the war.

"The attitude seems to be," he says, "to ignore all extraneous aid and regard the war as one between the Slav and Teuton, which, indeed, it has been chiefly for the past thirteen months. Nothing the allies have done has lightened by a few hours weight the pressure maintained upon Russia. The people are asking what would be Russia's position should the allies remain immobile before the German stone wall in the west."

For thirteen months the daily bulletins from Grand Duke Nicholas have shown fighting on a continually increasing scale. His armies remain undefeated, but at what a cost! Russia, by a chivalrous dash into East Prussia, saved Paris. Russians are asking what else will they be called upon to sacrifice."

Discussing the work of the ministry and the drama, the Post's correspondent says several additional changes of ministers are pending.
